

Current Research in Egyptology

Liverpool, 2 – 6 September 2024

Dear Colleagues,

We are pleased to announce that the call for papers is now open for the next Current Research in Egyptology (CRE) to be held at the University of Liverpool, United Kingdom from 2 – 6 September 2024.

CRE 2024 is a collaboration between students from: University of Liverpool, University of Birmingham, University of Wales Trinity Saint David, Swansea University, and University of Oxford.

CRE aims to give early career researchers a platform to present their completed and/or ongoing research to an audience of peers. We welcome abstracts from all aspects of Egyptology and Nubiology, including, but not limited to:

- Administration and Daily Life
- Anthropology
- Archaeology
- Art History
- Cultural Contact
- Mythology and Religion
- Diversity and Intersectionality
- Reception Studies and Egyptomania
- History of Egyptology
- Theory of Egyptology
- Museum and Private Collections
- Interdisciplinary and Cross-disciplinary Methodologies and Approaches
- Linguistics, Language, and Literature

This year's CRE will provide three different presentation formats:

1. Standard presentation – 20-minute presentation, plus discussion.
2. Short presentation – 10-minute presentation, plus discussion. These talks are recommended for work in progress topics or exploratory papers.
3. Poster presentation – Poster displayed in the foyer of the event location with a dedicated poster session.

Abstracts can be submitted through the Submit an abstract form. Important information:

- Abstracts should not exceed 300 words.
- Abstract titles should not exceed 30 words.
- The official language of the conference is English.

We strongly encourage in-person participation to facilitate intellectual exchange. Abstracts are anonymously reviewed by an external scientific committee. In the application form, you should note the desired format of your presentation. This should include if you wish to present digitally or in-person. Please note that the number of online presentations will be limited.

Important dates

- 17 January 2024: Deadline for abstract submissions.
- Late March 2024: Notification of acceptance.
